STORIES OF KLONDIKE

The Steamer Humboldt Arrives From St. Michael's.

SHE HAD FOURTEEN PASSENGERS.

Only Seven of These Had Any Gold and the Entire Amount Was Less Than Fifteen Thousand Dollars—The Alaska-Bound Steamer Eliza Anderson Turns Up Safe in Dutch Harbor.

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 14.—The steamer Humboldt arrived yesterday from St. Michael's. She brought 14 passengers and about $15,000 in gold. The Humboldt also brought news that the side-wheel steamer Eliza Anderson, from Seattle, which was reported lost, is safe in Dutch harbor.

The Humboldt was 11 days from St. Michael's. The steamer Eliza Anderson is anchored in Dutch harbor, where she arrived on the 4th inst., and is now detained by revenue officers. Her passengers have by this time entered the Bering sea on a schooner chartered for that purpose. Two of the passengers on the Anderson were so frightened that they gave up their search for gold and returned south on the steamer Humboldt. Mayor Wood of Seattle, who chartered the Humboldt, is still at St. Michael's, but letters received from him indicate that the stories of dissension and strife between members of his expedition are untrue.

The Humboldt brings back advices which reiterate the stories of untold wealth of the Klondike and Yukon and verify the previous rumors of the shortage of food supply in the interior.

"There will be privation, sickness, starvation, scurvy and death on the Yukon this winter," is what the returning gold hunters all say.

Only seven passengers of the Humboldt have money. It is impossible to induce them to say how much money they have, but the purser gives the figures as follows: J. A. Manger, $900; E. Turner, $500; J. F. Crider, $2,000; W. Urquhart, $900; J. D. Rogers, $3,500; D. F. Atkins, $4,500; Captain J. Whitesides, $4,200.

J. M. Secretan, who came back on the Humboldt, and who has but very little cash, says he came out to avoid starvation at Dawson. He says: "Thus far upwards of 1,500 men have pushed their way over the passes from Skagway and Dyea and have arrived at Dawson City. The influx of miners over the passes has frightened the old-timers in the interior and all that can be coming to winter in the states and thus avoid what they believe will be a winter of hardship, suffering and probably murder and thievery."

"We left Dawson on July 26, on the steamer P. B. Weare. At midnight on the 27th the steamer ran on a bar below Circle City. After waiting 17 days the passengers were transferred to the steamer Healy and arrived at St. Michael's Aug. 25. The next day we took the Excelsior to San Francisco. On the morning of Aug. 28 the Excelsior went aground in 10 feet of water in the Bering sea 70 miles from land. The passengers moved 70 tons of coal from her hold to a lighter and at midnight she floated, having broken two blades of her propeller. She arrived at Unalaska on Sept. 1. On the 2d they tried to beach her and on the 3d succeeded. On the fourth day they took off her propeller and on the 5th put on a new one. She sailed via Unger for Dutch harbor Sept. 6, where we took the Humboldt for Seattle. On the way from Dawson City I have paid three fares. First, to the North American Trading and Transportation company for transportation to Seattle, then $120 to the Excelsior, and again $75 to the Humboldt."

W. B. Price of Danville, Ills., who went up on the Eliza Anderson and who left that vessel at Dutch harbor, returned on the Humboldt. He said: "The entire trip was a series of mis-haps. The third day out from Dixon's entrance bad weather came on and the wind blew terrifically. The waves would lift the guard up and leap in under it. During the first night after the storm began the rudder chain broke five times. Of course, after this broke there was no controlling the boat. Every minute it seemed that she would go over. The passengers were thrown out of their bunks, the crew was insufficient to the pumps, so the passengers took them in charge. I was put in command and divided the passengers up into squads of four men each. Each squad worked two hours. I also did the sounding to see how much water there was. We kept this up for 48 hours, and during that time the Anderson drifted back 14 miles. The second day of our trouble the other vessels were in sight. Then the Merwin, which was being towed by the Holyoke, along with the Bryant and Polistofsky, broke loose and the captain of the Holyoke turned about with the other two boats in tow and picked up the Merwin."

The next place we reached was St. Paul on Kodiak island. We should have taken coal there to get to Dutch harbor, but could not get it. After leaving St. Paul the sea was heavy and we were forced to cruise ashore. We arrived within 130 miles of Dutch harbor, when the coal gave out. We were rigging a small boat to send out for relief, when we sighted a small fishing smack with one man in it. He told us we could reach an abandoned cannery about 20 miles distant, where coal had been lying for five or six years. We had enough coal to reach that point. All day long the passengers worked in a drizzling rain to take on that coal, and finally on Sept. 4 we reached Dutch harbor. Captain Hooper of the revenue squadron boarded us at Dutch harbor, and seeing the unworthy condition of the Anderson forbade her to go further. It was not necessary for him to go below, but upon seeing that we had insufficient lifeboats, he gave the order to tie up there. The passengers of the Anderson, with the exception of Mr. Scott and myself, raised $1,000 to charter the schooner Parisot to take the passengers from there to St. Michael's. The conditions on the trip of the Anderson from Dixon's entrance to Dutch harbor can not be pictured too vividly."

The passenger list is as follows: Dr. A. C. Posye, Mrs. E. Cronister, G. A. Wanger, E. Thrner, J. F. Crider, W. Urquhart, J. F. Williams, Captain J. W. Whiteside and wife, W. B. Price, George Scott, J. N. Secretan, Mrs. Woodward and five children, J. P. Rodgers, D. E. Atkins and Mrs. A. Clark.

TORNADO IN TEXAS.

Six People Killed and Many Injured at Port Arthur.

PORT ARTHUR, Tex., Sept. 14.—A tornado, terrible in its velocity, struck this little city at an early hour Sunday evening. Six people were killed while many others were injured. Buildings were blown down and great damage was wrought by the cyclone.

The dead are:

Frank Albright, Kansas City, employed by electric light company.

George Martin, bricklayer, residence unknown.

Unknown man, aged about 38.

May Ainsworth, 18-year-old daughter of William Ainsworth.

Infant son of W. H. Johnson, blown from its mother's arms and drowned.

Fritz Michaels, laborer, residence unknown.

The injured are:

Mrs. Roy Stafford, right leg broken near hip.

Roy Stafford, legs badly bruised.

Little daughter of Stafford, seriously injured.

Many buildings were blown down, including the railroad roundhouse, where May Ainsworth was killed; the Natatorium, the bank building, Townsite company's barns, Hotel Hayden, Strong & League's building, Brennan building, Colonade hotel, Speece & Lyons' building, C. J. Miller's grocery store, several barns, Kanady's saloon, The Herald office, Alfred Wolf's saloon, The Hays building and M. M. Zollinski's grocery.

Several residences suffered severely, that of Dr. A. W. Barracough being carried across the street. Many outbuildings were completely blown away.

Advices from Winnie, Tex., say that nearly all the houses there were blown down and torn away.

At Webb all of the barns and one house were demolished and scattered over the country.

Nothing can be heard from Sabine Pass, as all telegraphic communication has been interrupted. It is known that much destruction was wrought there, with probable loss of life. Everything possible is being done to establish communication with that place.

Port Arthur is the southern terminal of the Kansas City, Pittsburg and Gulf railroad, and is situated 16 miles inland from Sabine City. In 1886 a wave swept over Sabine City, covering that place with six feet of water, destroying many houses and causing several deaths. Great distress was caused, and there were many narrow and thrilling escapes.

When the Gulf road was first projected land on Sabine Pass, owned by Konitz Brothers of New York city, was offered the railroad for a terminal.

Both because of the fear of tidal waves and owing to a failure to reach a satisfactory price for the land, the proposition was rejected. Port Arthur then became the southern terminus of the road and was built up on the strength of that enterprise.

Sabine Pass Heard From.

HOUSTON, Sept. 14.—The storm damage at Sabine is inconsiderable, except to shipping. Tugs owned by Moore & Betts of Orange were sunk, drowning both Moore and Betts. Damage to buildings in both the old and the new towns of Sabine Pass was slight. At Port Arthur fully three-fourths of the buildings, temporary structures, were blown down. Six persons were killed at Port Arthur from falling of the roundhouse, to which they had gone for safety, and 15 wounded.

HEIRESS HELD IN BONDAGE.

Sensational Case on Which the Chicago Police Are at Work.

CHICAGO, Sept. 14.—Miss Fanny Rutherford, an heiress, of Minneapolis, is thought to be in Chicago and kept in confinement by J. A. Morris, forger, who escaped from the Cook county jail in June, 1896.

Miss Rutherford and her mother, while traveling in the south, met Morris aboard a steamer. Morris made a good impression, and for several days was their constant companion. May 6 the daughter left her home for the purpose of taking a music lesson. Her mother has not seen her since.

July 21 Mrs. Rutherford received a letter from her daughter, mailed at Delavan Lake, Wis. One portion of the letter read: "I am happily married to a man I worship. I can't tell you where I am nor who he is, but you must not worry about me. My husband is wealthy and we live in luxury, but I can't tell you where."

Detectives found that Miss Rutherford and Morris had been in Delavan. Several persons who had seen them told the detectives that the woman appeared to fear the man and followed him submissively wherever he went. Morris and Miss Rutherford had been seen together in Chicago three weeks ago.

NO BLOOD WAS SHED

HOW TROUBLE WAS AVERTED.

General Gobin Outwitted by the Polish Priests—Uniforms Were Worn and Arms Were Carried at the Funeral—Situation in the Hazleton District One of Unrest. Trouble Has Broken Out at Eckley.

HAZELTON, Pa., Sept. 14.—Yesterday passed off without the expected bloodshed over the proposed funeral demonstration. General Gobin arranged for a conference early in the morning with the Polish priests, who are looking after the cause of the men. He impressed them with the necessity for preventing any show of a military character, and said he would permit no uniformed men to participate, except those representing religious societies. Bands of music, side arms, sticks and banners were also prohibited.

The priests promised that all this should be done and the commander on the other hand agreed to keep all the troops away from the funerals. Somebody stole a march on the general, however, and although he later revoked the clause excluding music, there were men in line wearing the uniform of the Italian army, and others carrying drawn sabres. Six of the latter stood in front of the church during the ceremonies within. Learning of this the commander promptly dispatched a staff officer and a detail of men to the cemetery, but when they reached the cemetery the services were over and the mourners had dispersed.

"The priests gave me their sacred promise that no arms should be carried nor military uniforms worn," said General Gobin. "In moments when a spark might result in the wholesale loss of life and property, it seems to me that such things should not be permitted. If I had the slightest idea that their promise would be broken a troop of cavalry would have been there within a few moments."

The general added that he would demand an explanation from the clergymen.

No disturbance occurred and everything is now quiet.

The situation, however, in the Hazleton district is one of unrest. All the collieries in this district are apprehensive of danger. Requests have been pouring in to General Gobin from the various mines asking that he send troops to the places in order to prevent any possible outbreak. The general states that he will not send troops to any point unless an outbreak does occur. The general declines to give the names of the collieries, as all the men in them are still at work. The operators, however, are apprehensive of a strike and want to be prepared for any few moments."

THE London Times prints a communication which states that the Bank of England Directors have consented to hold one-fifth of the bank's reserve in silver. And the gold bugs are very greatly excited over the announcement.

MR. HANNA assisted in opening the Ohio campaign Saturday. He spent his time telling what "we and McKinley" have done for the country. Referring to the Dingley bill he said: "The Republican party is responsible through that measure of bringing back this prosperity." But Mr. McKinley doesn't agree with him entirely. The President in a recent interview said the big wheat crop in this country and the short crop in Europe was "responsible" for bringing back this prosperity in the West.

THE Detroit News declares that the most significant feature of the report of the commission appointed to inquire into the cause of industrial depression in England is the fact that when men of learning address themselves to this question they are brought by sheer force of the facts to conclude "that the gold standard is the ruin of agriculture." If England can afford to ruin her agriculture for the sake of her banks, her factories and her commerce, it is a very different thing with us, truthfully asserts an exchange.

SPEAKER REED disavows all knowledge of the 10 per cent. discriminating duty imposed by the Dingley law on all goods coming into this country by Canadian railways. He thinks it "slipped in, as such things are liable to do, unnoticed among hundreds of amendments and changes." This causes the New York World to remark:

Very likely; but it was "slipped in" with a purpose, and if it had affected unfavorably the sugar trust or any other favored monopoly, you can bet your bottom dollar it would not have "slipped in unnoticed." They bought, paid for and got "protection that protects."

"It seems to us," argues the Washington Post, "the most logical result imaginable that silver, bereft of its money attribute, should depreciate in the market. Like gold, it has but a limited adaptability to the uses of mankind. It cannot be applied to any practical purpose. It is not susceptible of conversion into implements of husbandry, into machinery, into tools, etc. It is fit only for ornament or for coinage into money. Robbed by legislation of its latter quality, its range of usefulness is sadly narrowed. We do not ask the monometallist shirkers what would become of gold under like circumstances. It would be cruel. They do not know."

H. H. COLLINS.

Death Claims One of the City's Most Prominent Business Men.

Passed Away Last Night at 8:30 O'Clock.
Funeral Wednesday Afternoon at 3:30 O'Clock.

Mr. H. H. Collins died last night at 8:30 o'clock at his residence, No. 1,305 East Second street, of paralysis.

Mr. Collis' health had been slowly failing for some months. On Sunday morning, September 6th, he was suddenly stricken with paralysis, and had steadily declined from that time. His condition had been so critical for several days that the sad news of his death was expected at any moment. The end came peacefully last night, at the hour named, and a good citizen passed to her reward.

Deceased was a native of Sussex County, Delaware, his father being Thomas Doughty Collins, an influential citizen of that county. Mr. Collins was born August 9th, 1830, and was consequently in the sixty-eighth year of his age. In 1856 he came to Maysville, the rest of his life being spent in this city. For some time he was a salesman in a store conducted by Mr. W. W. Lamar. Later on he was engaged in the furniture and undertaking business as a member of the firm of Stoue & Collins, his partner being his father-in-law. In 1868 he embarked in the lumber business, at the present location of the Collins & Rudy establishment, Second and Poplar streets, and here he was continuously engaged in this trade the rest of his days. The firm at first was Chase, Dimmitt & Co., later Dimmitt, Pearce & Co.; then Mr. Collins became the senior member of the firm of Collins, Rudy & Carpenter, and he remained at the head of the establishment from that on, the firm name being afterwards changed to Collins, Rudy & Co. and then to the Collins & Rudy Lumber Company. A few weeks ago Mr. Collins purchased the interest of his partner, Mr. J. I. Salisbury, and became practically sole proprietor of the establishment.

Upright and honorable in all his dealings, he was universally respected and esteemed by the people of Maysville and surrounding country. None stood higher in the business community, and in his death Maysville loses one of her best and most useful citizens. Deceased was a member of the First Presbyterian Church, and his life had been an exemplary one.

His wife, who was Miss Martha Stone, daughter of the late Thomas T. Stone, survives him, and he leaves two sons, Messrs. O. E. Collins and H. H. Collins, Jr., and two grandchildren. He also leaves two brothers, Messrs. John A. D. Collins and James Collins, of Laurel, Del., and two or three sisters, one of them being Mrs. M. M. Collins, of Prenciss Anne, Md. One sister, Mrs. Gaddie Owens, died recently at her home in the East.

The funeral will occur at the residence Wednesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, Rev. Dr. Hays officiating. Mason Lodge No. 342, F. and A. M., of which deceased was an honorary member, will have charge of the services. The remains will be laid to rest in the Maysville Cemetery.

Rev. John Burgis, Keokuk, Iowa, writes: "I have been a Minister of the Methodist Episcopal Church for fifty years or more, and have never found anything so beneficial, or that gave me such speedy relief as Dr. King's New Discovery." Charged With Discrimination.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Sept. 12.—The Kentucky Railroad Commission decides that the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad is guilty of violating Section 214 of the Constitution, relating to discrimination in freight rates. The complaint was made by Green Meek, of Johnson County, and there are ten or more similar complaints filed from the same county. The penalty for such an offense is $2,000 for the first offense, and the commission has directed the Attorney General to bring suit to recover the penalty.

WILL VOTE FOR SHACKLEFORD.

The Democratic Nominee Will Get Most of the Prohibition Vote in This State.

RICHMOND, Ky., September 12.—J. W. Chaney, ex-Chairman of the Prohibition County Committee, in an interview here, states that the bulk of the prohibition vote in Madison County, and, in fact, the entire State, would be cast for Shackleford, the Democratic nominee, instead of Wallace, the regular Prohibition candidate, in the Appellate County Clerk's race.

The reason of this, he says, is Shackleford is for silver, while Wallace is known to be a gold standard man.

At a conservative estimate this will increase Shackleford's strength by fully 4,000 votes.

BISHOP MALLALIEU

PINEVILLE, Ky., Sept. 12.—Bishop Mallalieu delivered the best sermon to the Kentucky conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church here to-day at 11 o'clock that this conference ever listened to. This evening at 7:30 o'clock Dr. Spencer, after an earnest talk, appealed to the sinners to turn from the wrath to come. About 300 went to the altar for prayers. Thirty-five professed religion.

M. E. CHURCH, SOUTH.

Excellent Showing For the Year—Unanimous Desire That The Faithful Pastor Rev. J. S. Sims Be Returned.

Rev. J. S. Sims, the faithful and zealous pastor of the M. E. Church, South, leaves this afternoon to attend the annual meeting of the Kentucky conference of the church which convenes at Mt. Sterling to-morrow.

The church at this place is to be congratulated that the report he bears is so favorable. All claims against this charge have been paid in full. In this connection it may be well to name the amounts necessary to carry on the good work here during the past year. They are as follows: Pastor's salary $1,850, Presiding Elder's claim $134, all the conference claims $456.53, including support of bishops, superannuated preachers, widows and orphans of deceased preachers, &c.; incidental expenses $400, Sunday school, &c., $159.47; total, $2,500.

This does not include the amount contributed by the ladies' mite and missionary societies.

The lay delegates from this district are W. W. Ball of this city, R. T. Marshall, of Mt. Carmel, A. S. Dickey, of Hill Top, and Thomas Putnam, of Tolulessboro.

It is the unanimous wish of the congregation here that Brother Sims be returned.

As this conference elects delegates to the general conference which meets next May, the members of the church here sincerely hope to see the name of Brother Sims and one of the above laymen among the number.

Fine Buggies.

We have just placed in our repository a number of handsome new jobs, home manufacture. These, with our already large stock, give us one of the finest displays of buggies ever offered in Maysville.

We do not want to carry a job over for another season, so we have made a big reduction in prices. Here's your chance before the pick is gone. Come quick and secure a bargain.

We have also a number of brake carts, just what the farmer needs. These, like our buggies, are offering at a great reduction. We can not replace them at the price we offer them to you.

This is no Klondike scheme, but a golden opportunity to get a handsome job at a low price. Courteously, THOMSON & MCATEE.

SCHOOL FUND DELAYED.

State Will Not be Able to Pay All of it October 1st.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Sept. 10.—The State will not be able on the 1st of October to pay to the School Fund the 40 per cent. due, which amounts to about $800,000.

The Treasurer and Superintendent of Public Instruction have figured the matter out, and announce that only about $360,000 will be available for this fund at that time, or less than 20 per cent. of the amount.

The Republicans claim this is caused by the failure of county Sheriffs to pay in the amounts collected for taxes.

The fountain for the esplanade arrived Monday, and Mr. J. J. Fitzgerald, the contractor, will soon have it in position.

EXPLOSION OF NATURAL GAS. A Number of People Burned by the Burst of Flames.

MECHANICSBURG, Ind., Sept. 14.—While employees of the College Corner Gas company were trying to cap a new gas well on the Bushong farm, near here, with a number of farmers gathered about, witnessing the work, there was a sudden explosion of escaping gas, and flames shot in every direction, enveloping and destroying the derrick and injuring a number of people.

Daniel and Charles Mundell were burned about the face, hand and legs, and Charles was hurt internally. William Mundell, son of the first named, was terribly burned about the face and hands, and Jackson Bushong and Charles Lewis were also severely scalded. Quite a number of others were burned, but not so badly but that they could proceed to their homes.

The derrick belonged to Henry Hughes, whose loss is $400. It is supposed that the gas ignited from a spark from a forge near by, where drills were sharpened. Much difficulty was had in controlling the escaping gas.

President Back in Washington.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—President McKinley returned to Washington yesterday afternoon from Somerset, Pa. There was a very small crowd at the Baltimore and Ohio depot at 5:30, the hour the train arrived. The president was cheered as he appeared on the platform, and after lifting his hat in acknowledgement, assisted Mrs. McKinley to alight. With the president on one hand and Secretary Bliss on the other, Mrs. McKinley walked across the platform to the carriage and the party was driven at once to the White House.

A Boy Jerked Skyward.

HARTFORD CITY, Ind., Sept. 14.—While the fair at Warren was in progress, and during a hot-air balloon ascension, a country boy, 18 years old, fooling with the guy ropes, was caught and carried 150 feet into the air. The aeronaut realized the danger and cut loose with his parachute, returning safely to the ground. The balloon and the boy also came down without material injury to the lad, who scurried away as soon as he could release himself.

WABASH, Ind., Sept. 14.—A serious case of poisoning occurred here yesterday morning, and one of the victims, at least, may not recover. Sunday night Mrs. Lehman Bennett ground a quantity of Jimson seed in the family coffee-mill. Yesterday morning, having failed to clean out the mill properly, she used it for grinding coffee, and she and her husband and Mrs. Harry Bennett, who drank the coffee, were thrown into convulsions immediately afterward. The condition of Mrs. Bennett is alarming.

Boy Burns.

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 14.—Three boys, 5 to 8 years old, Eugene Berry, Charles Buck and Harold Kern, have been arrested for setting fire to barns. There have been many recent fires, some serious, burning horses and considerable property. The boys accuse one another, and admit having participated in a arson chiefly "to see the fire engines run."

Prof. Turnipseed, who again has charge of the school, has removed to the city to the regret of his many friends.

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Williams attended the morning and afternoon services of the Christian conference at Plumville Sunday and were hospitably entertained at an elegant lunch on the ground by the genial Mrs. A. L. Redmond.

The latest social and pleasant event of the season was a moonlight fete Thursday evening at the lovely home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Adams. The beautiful lawn was illuminated with lanterns, intermingled with the bright moonlight, and the night was an ideal one for the occasion. About twenty young ladies and forty young gentlemen were present, and music, dancing and games were the amusements of the evening. The music was elegantly discoursed by our local band, Messrs. Rulus, Foster and Adams, each possessing rare musical talents, seldom equalled and rarely excelled. Mrs. Adams, always gracious and retiring, together with her lovely daughters, Miss Mayme and Miss Lizzie, left nothing undone that would contribute happiness and enjoyment to their guests who late in the evening reluctantly took leave of this delightful occasion, long to be remembered by all present.

Charley is only nineteen years old, and has always had to attend school at an inconvenient distance, either having to walk two and one-half miles to get to school, or cross backwater in a leaky skiff; but this all shows what pluck and determination will do and the possibilities that lie in the path of the deserving.

The doctor may be a good old man, but even so, medical examinations and the "local application" treatment are abhorrent to every modest woman. They are embarrassing—often useless. They should not be submitted to until everything else has been tried. In nine cases out of ten, there is no reason for them. In nine cases out of ten, the doctor in general practice isn't competent to treat female diseases. They make a branch of medicine by themselves. They are distinct from other ailments.
